

How to invoke:

Navigate to the project folder through a linux machine, then:

```
make clean
make cleantest
make
make test
```

Other info:

The tests rely on comparing predetermined expected output with the output generated by the scanner. Error messages are outputted to the console where they can be compared manually. Token information is outputted to files that are compared automatically using diff (through the make test command).